

It would be an attack on my right to have fair and balanced news. When one is able to hear only one side. That is media control. If the FCC allows this change, to let one or two companies control the media is an affront to these rights. Fox and MSNBC are onesided enough. In my local area, all we hear on radio is comments and editorials from the right. All Clear Channel stations. Nothing balanced about that. Do not allow this rule change.
